Thrifty Children

The lesson of thrift, so necessary to the future welfare of your children, is perhaps best taught by opening for each a Savings Bank Account, and encouraging them to deposit regularly a portion of their spending money.

Though they may not accumulate very much money, they will learn its value and how to save it.

We welcome Children's Savings Accounts.

Mothers' Day Features

Honon—The one who loved you first and always—Yours Mothers—Temenory—through some distinct act of kindiness, visit or letter.

FLORAL BADGE—Wear a white flower—emblem of purity and fidelity—on Mothers' Day. If possible send one to others as a message of sympactic or unfortunate in hospitals.

EMBLEM—While any white flower may be worn, the white carnation is the Mothers' Day special flower. Its whiteness stands for purity; its form' beauty; its fragrance, love; its wide field of growth, charity; its lasting qualities, faithfulness—all at rue mothers' attributes.

ORSERVANCE—Mothers' Day may be observed through special sermons, exercises or addresses in honor of "Our Mothers," and by the wearing and distribution of the white flower in connection with such occasion. Generous provision should be made for getting to the special services the aged and other "shut-ins."

FOR ALL—Mothers' Day is for every creed, class, race and country. It is not denominational. Social, fraternal, civil, military and religious organizations; official, professional and business classes are all asked to pay homage to mothers through the wearing of the white flower, and observance of the spirit of the day.

THE GRASS YIELD.

Farmers who content themselves with two tons or less cannot understand how yields of three or four tons, or even more, are obtained. There are, however, four chief essentials, a smooth surface, with even, steady grade, thorough preparation of the soil, an abundance of good, healthy seed and plenty of fertility and to which might be added the proper amount of moisture, writes Mr. R. d's Day Alliance ing in connection with the fithe Lord's Day Alliance was an the Lecture room of the Methest Church on Tuesday evening last, and was addressed by Rev. W. G. Hanna, the field Secretary of the Alliance, Mr. Hanna, in his address, gave a full explanation of the work of the Alliance, and said that through their efforts 125,000 men who formerly worked on the Sabbath were now enjoying it as a day of rest. There was still a great work to do, and constant vigilance was necessary to prevent further encreachments on the Sunday rest, especially on the part of new corporations seeking charters from Parliament.

The address was most interesting and instructive, and it is unfortunate that so few were present to hear it. At the close of the address the old officers were re-elected, and a collection and a subscription taken up taid in the work.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speaker and the meeting closed.

A despatch from Washington says: Regulations regarding lifesaving appliances on Americanowned ships will be extended to forcign-owned vessels as well by a bill agreed upon on Wednesday by the House Merchant Marine Committee. It also requires passenger ships on the great lakes to be equipped with wireless, but would exempt Long Island Sound passenger ships from the ocean-going requirements. Auxiliary wireless equipment and two operators for each ship are among other features of the measure. Recommended.

A despatch from New York says:
The net results of the Titanic investigation and the proposed recommendations of the Senate Committee that has been conducting the enquiry here and in Washington were described Thursday by Senator Smith, chairman of the committee. The recommendations will include double bottoms for all large vessels, full lifeboat equipment, searchlights, danger signals, double watches at night, two-man wireless service and avoidance of the northerly track in the iceberg season.

Dr. Chas. J. Hastings, Toronto's Medical Health Officer, holds decided views about flies. Now, some doctors don't trouble about a little thing like a fity. Perhaps it is because the fly is too big to merit their attention. Crop Rotation and Weed Control
Nearly every crop is accompanied by certain kinds of weeds. The weeds which three in a grain crop are usually quite different to those which we find most plentiful in meadows. It small grain is grown continuously we will likely find the land become very weedly. These particular weeds are usually easily killed by cultivation. Some may be very bad in spring grain, but can be controlled by a hoe crop. The ox-eye daisy may be bad in hay land but will give little trouble in corn. The opposite is true of other weeds and will give less trouble in the grown any crop continuously that is favorable to the growth of weeds.

Short Rotation of Crops

"To keep farms free from weeds few methods give such good results as a systematic short rotation of crops, with regular seeding down to grass or clover at short intervals."

"Weeds are most in evidence in listricts where the production of creal grains predominates and where the systematic alteration of crops is not interested. Many weeds ignerably practised. Test Your Seeds

Few there are who make systematic seed germination tests, yet this is the only way of determining the real value of seed of any kind. Sowing or planting many kinds of seeds without first making sure that they will grow and produce vigorous plants, is a serious matter, as there is a danger of losing a part, if not the entire crop. These tests are the cheapest, surest, and most profitable crop insurance, as far as the seed is concerned. Try it and see.

Consumption of Coal in Canada

Consumption of Coal in Canada
In 1911, the total consumption of coal in Canada amounted to about 24,400,000 tons, made up as follows;
9,800,000 tons of coal produced in Canada, and 14,600,000 tons of imported coal. According to the figures Canada produces only 40.2 per cent. of the coal which it consumes. It must be noted, however, that if all the coal mined in Canada had been used in the country, it would have constituted over 46.2 per cent of the consumption.
The consumption of coal in Canada has increased from 3,480,111 tons in 1880, to 24,400,000 tons in 1910. During the same period the coal consumption per capita has increased from 0.758 tons to 3,389 tons.

Why should not the Ontario Medical Council confine its efforts to disciplining all its own members who diagnose and prescribe incorrectly, as evidenced by the mortality statistics of the province? Doing this, would the Ontario Medical Council have time or the inclination to interfere with the individual's right to choose the method of healing which he prefers, as was proposed by the Jamieson bill aimed at the osteopaths?— Ottawa' Citizen.

THE AMERICAN DIS

Indigestion, Chrenic and Acute, an Digestive Organe.

Indigestion, a phase of dyspepwhich has been called the Americal disease, is very common, and its disagreeable symptoms are but too well known. Chronic Indigestion, or dyspepsia, is very prevalent, and in medical phrase an acute disease is opposed to chronic in the sense that while a chronic disease runs a long time the acute form is attended with severe symptoms and is likely to come speedily to a crisis.

Acute indigestion, therefore, is a condition in which the digestive organs, because they are either naturally weak or are worn out, overworked or temporarily abused, fail to perform their functions and the whole system is thrown "out of gear." This may be due primarily and directly to overeating for to eating improper food, to gorging the stomach with inadequately masticated food, to retarding its normal action with too much liquid or te other local influences.

In cases of acute indigestion or dyspepsia there generally is intense pain, often followed by sickness and vomiting of the surplus or offensive matter by which the stomach seeks to correct the effects of abuse and regain a normal condition. But it does not always succeed. Other measures of relief also fail, the machinery breaks down, and death ensues.

The main difference between chronic dispepsion and acute indigestion is that one is slow death and the other quick. The moral as to dietett habits, eating and drinking, is too obvious to need pointing out.—Indianapolis News.

AWED BY NAPOLEON.

Queer Impression the Emperor Made Upon Countess Petocks.

We waited rather long, and it must be acknowledged our curiosity was not unmingled with fright. Of a sudden the silence was broken by a swift rumor, the wings of the door opened noisily, and M. de Talleyrand advanced, with a loud and intelligible voice uttering the magic word that made the world tremble, "The emperor." Immediately Napoleon made his appearance and halted for a minute as if to be admired.

So many portraits exist of this astonishing man, his history has been so much written about, all the stories told by the children of his old soldiers will live so long, that the generations to come will know him almost as well as ourselves. But what will be difficult to grasp is how deep and unexpected the impression was which those felt who saw him for the first time.

As for me, I experienced a sort of stupor, a mute surprise, like that which selzes one at the aspect of a prodigy. It seemed to me that he wore an aureole. The only thought I could frame when I recovered from this first shock was that such a being could not possibly die; that such a mighty organization, such a stupendous genulus, should never perish. I inwardly awarded him double immortality.—From the Memoirs of the Countess Potocka.

The Pulse Watch.

From the Memoirs of the Countess Potocka.

The Pulse Watch.

Among the ingenious devices for the physician may be mentioned a watch constructed on the "stop" principle whereby the number of pulse beats per minute may be indicated. A push button is pressed at the beginning of the count and again at the twentieth pulsation, when the number of beats per minute is shown on a dial without the necessity for calculation. Still another push on the button brings the counter back to the starting point. In the ordinary method of taking the pulse the observer is obliged to do two things at the same time—count the beats and keep his eye on the second hand of his watch. With the pulse watch only one operation is necessary, the counting of the pulsation up to twenty, when the push button is pressed.—New York Press.

WHEN KENT WAS HERE

FATHER OF QUEEN VICTORIA

vey to the donor, the Princess Jonies, the thanks of the Canadian people for her generous remembrance." This gift recalls many memories associated with persons and places that have contributed to our history. The Duke of Kent is best remembered as the father of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria. He was therefore, grandather of our Gov. port. General, and great-randfather of ar King; and for several years he are sident of this country. The gift is from Princess Louise, now the Duchess of Argyll, and a granddaughter of the Duke of Kent, who for five years was mistress of Rideau Hall, when her husband, then Marquis of Lorne, was Governor-General of Canada.

The picture carries one back in Canadian history more than a century, to the days when Kent House had a royal master. Let us glance briefly over those far away years.

Edward Duke of Kent, the fourth son of King George III., was born at Buckingham Palace on Nov. 2, 1767—just one hundred years before Canadian Confederation.

When a boy he was sent to school ance, and intercepted his letters home.

"In June, 1790, he came home from Geneva without leave. The King was much displeased and gave him peremptory orders to embark for Gibraltar. At Gibraltor he was put in command of the 7th Regiment of Foot, known as the Royal Fusiliers. In May, 1791, he was sent to Canada."

Then opened the chapter of his life that forms part of our history.

It was on August 11, 1791, that the Duke of Kent, with the Royal Fusiliers, arrived at Quebec from Gibraltano the warships Ulysses and Resistance. Quebec harbor presented a brave sight on that long ago midsummer day, for besides the ships that brought the duke and his Fusiliers, there were then in port five shipsoftwar belonging to Commodore Sawyers squadron and four transports filled with British regulars for service at different Canadian posts.

ARCTIC INDIAN

of Indian life is given in the following incident:

"One winter, forty or fifty years ago, a band of Algonquin Indians at Wayabinita all starved to death except one squaw and her baby. She fied from the camp, carrying the child, thinking to find friends and help at Nipigon flowes. She got as far as a small lake uear Deer lake and there discovered a cache, probably in a tree. This contained one small bone fishhook. She rigged up a line, but had no bnit.

"The walling of the baby spurred feet to action. No bait, but she had a knife. A strip of feets was quickly cut from her own leg, a hole made through the ice, and a fine jackfish was the food that was sent to this devoted mother. She divided it with the child, saving only enough for bait. She stayed there living on fish until spring, then safely rejoined her people.

"The boy grew up to be a strong man, but was cruel to his mother, leaving her finally to die of starvation. Anderson knew the woman. She showed him the scar where she cut the bait."

ODD OLD CHOCTAW LAWS.

One Made the Selling of Their Land a Capital Crime.

In an old set of laws of the Choctaw Nation there is a clause which relates to the killing of witches. For witchcraft the penalty was death, and for saying that any other person was one was punishable by sixty lashes on the bare back.

Another declared that no doctor could take money or any of the belongings of a patient he treated if the patient died. If the patient were raised up from a slekbed the doctor could accept what was offered to him, and it nothing was offered then he could take in goods what was his just compensation.

In 1834 the Choctaw council passed to see the particular and the council passed to an extended much who have.

Instinctive Mimicry.

Unly if one man on the street takes at his watch do others do the same? Among the very early instincts recoglized in the human mind are mimicry and curiosity. Mimicry develops into tabit, as when we see many persons calking faster than we do we gradally fall into their gait and in time his faster gait becomes habitual with see. Every instinct emanates from one or the other of the fundamental infinites, self preservation and race preservation. Every action that benefits the human being can be traced back to lea hastinct of self preservation, and mong these actions are the acquision of knowledge, even the knowledge of the time of day.

Instinctive mimicry creates an impulse which in the case of the man ooking at his watch upon seeing another instinct, curiosity, and by the numan faculty, reason. We therefore follow the impulse and look at our watch—New York American.

Moroccan Toilet Agcessories.
The native ladies of Morocco are very particular about the preservation of their complexions. They wash their faces in rosewater in which apricot kernels baked and powdered are introduced as an ald to preserve the natural tint of the complexion. Some ladies employ a wash which contains red radish scrapings powdered. They have also a peculiar method of removing superfluous halirs. A paste is made of lemon juice and sugar. This is applied and allowed to dry and then removed, taking, it is said, the halir with it. A hair preparation seems no less strange to Europeans. It is composed of aloe leaves, henna and reed grass. This is applied to the head, and when dry it is washed of with soap.

A Woman's Reason.

"Why," asks the inquisitive person, "do you enjoy having some one tell you that you are pretty when you know you are not? Does it make you believe that you are?"

One day a group of genera him, chatting, and he name by which they called who lingered longest. Reaching ward as he, too, was about to go, caught him by the coat.

"What do you want, my good man' asked the gentleman. "I have already given you 2 sous."

"Yes, monsieur, and I have thanked you," replied the veteran. "It is something else that I want."

"You shall have them," said the gentleman, and he kept his word. The next day the blind soldier bore on his breast a placard with a stanza to which was appended the name of Yietor Hugo, and the alms in the box were quintupled. The lines ms; be thus translated:

Like Belisarius and like Homer blind, Led by a young child on his pathway dim,

The hand that aids his need, pitying and kind,

He will not see, but God will see him.

He will not see, but God will se him.

How One Word Was Bern.
The two friends had been dining on divers and sundry strange dishes at the Cedars of Lebanon cafe, in the Syrian quarter of New York. They were drinking their coffee, thick with coal black grounds, and wondering whether they really enjoyed it, when Smithers suddenly cried out:
"Pataug! Pataug!"

The waiter hurried away and came back presently bringing an ordinary corkscrew.
"I was just testing," said Smithers to his companion, "the truth of the story that the first corkscrew seen in Beirut was brought there by a Yankee. It was a patented American contraption, and the Syrians were amazed at its convenience. They spelled out on it the mystic words, Pat. Aug. "76," and took that to be the name of the implement. Now, I believe the story that pataug is its name all over the Levant."

Thrifty Children

The lesson of thrift.

The lesson of thrift, so necessary to the future welfare of your children, is perhaps best taught by opening for each a Savings Bank Account, and encouraging them to deposit regularly a portion of their spending money.

Though they may not accumulate very much money, they will learn its value and how to save it.

We welcome Children's Savings Accounts.

Presentation to Miss Dunning
The following, taken from a Lowell happer has been handed us for publication. Miss Dunning is well-known here and her friends will be glad to know that her efforts in that city have been appreciated:

"Miss Mays Dunning, for two years connected with district nursing of city of Lowell, is soon to leave the city, and owing to the fact, her friends in the Nurses' Alumnae Association of the Lowell General Hospital, at their regular monthly meeting held yestered ay afternoon presented her a chest of silver as a token of their love and lesteem.

day afternoon presented her a cheef day afternoon presented her a cheef day fiver as a token of their love and esteem.

"The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. W. I. Chase, 271 Gibson Street. It took the form of an informal reception to Miss Dunning. In behalf of the Association the President, Miss Harriett Holden made the presentation speech. Besides the chest of siltor, may handsome gifts from nurses and other friends. The house was tastefully decorated and a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess.

Miss Dunning, who is to reside in another city takes with her best wishes of a host of friends."

tions is getting to be an intolerable burden. The following extracts from a recent publication show this in a striking manner:

Since 1800 the war debts of the nations have grown by leaps and bounds. That of Europe, as a whole, is more than $25000,000,000 bearing interest at the rate of $1,150,000,000 per year. All these endless caravans of ciphers represent sums which have never been paid, will never be paid, can never be paid, so long as the present system of armament continues. For practically the entire amounts now raised by taxation in civilized nations go in support of armies and navies. The United States, in splendid isolation from old entanglements, without an enemy in the world, and bound by ties of blood and commerce to all civilized nations, spends 73 per cent. of her income in this way. The civil or non-military expenditures of Europe are so small as to be negligible. It is estimated that the total direct cost of the armies and navies of the world each year in time of peace is two and a half billion dollars, which equals the total valuation of the wheat and corn crops of the whole of the United States.

Village Council

An adjourned meeting of the village Council was held on Monday evening last. The only business transacted was the passing of two small accounts and the putting through of a by-law for holding a Court of Revision. The time fixed for the Council Chamber. The advertisement appears in another column.

Harvey Lloyd, comedian, will fur ish laughs for everybody at Fire nan's Concert, May 24th.

At the Stirling Cheese Board on Tuesday 550 boxes were offered. All were sold to Mr. Kerr at 13½c. At the Belleville Cheese Board on Saturday 1005 boxes of cheese were offered. All were sold to Alexander Co. at 13 7/16c.

Why Not Stirling?

In another column will be found a report of a meeting held at Brighton, at which a "Bigger, Better Brighton Club," was formed for the purpose of securing industries and otherwise improving the town. Why cannot Stirling have a similar club, and make an effort to secure some industries for this town? Electric power can be had as cheaply here as anywhere, and if the proper efforts were put forth some industries might be induced to locate here.

to June 1st, is The First Step in The War on Tuberculosis

(By Roy Gilray)

The splendid new armouries in Central Park will be the Mecca for the great crowds that will visit Peterboro during the week commencing May 27. Its vast arena will be a vista of unparalleled beauty. The decorations will be on an elaborate scale. The manufacturers of Peterboro and others will exhibit their products in specially prepared booths, while the ladies of the city, who are in charge of the exhibition, have reserved the four corners for booths representing the-seasons, Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter. Each will be decorated in keeping with the season it represents, and the beautiful young lady attendants will be costumed to match. These booths will be headquarters for ice cream, cool drinks, home-made candies and cakes, fancy work of every description, to say nothing of a High Tea to be served every evening.

The object of this great undertaking is a most worthy one: to provide a District Nurse who shall visit the homes of those poor unfortunates who are afflicted with that dread disease, Consumption, administering care and comfort; the ultimate idea being to stamp it out from our midst.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the local Health Association have determined to do their part in banishing Consumption from our midst, and propose raising money enough to provide a District Nurse or "Friendly Visitor" whose duty it will be to visit those homes that need her assistance, where, perchance, some loved one lies prostrate, a victim of that fell monster, the White Plague, and where the balance of the family are exposed to the great danger of contracting the same discusse.

The Control of Insect

Pests in Canada The Division of Entomology of the Experimental Farms Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, has recently issued a bulletin by Dr. C. Gordon Hewett, Dominion Entomologist, on "The Control of Insect Pests in Canada."

Entomologist, on "The Control of Insect Pests in Canada."

An account is given of the history of the war against insect pests in Canada and of the manner in which insect pests have invaded this country as it has been gradually opened up and cultivated. The manner in which the Dominion and Perovincial governments are endeavoring by legislation and other means to prevent the introduction of insect pests and spread of those pests already here is described. An interesting summary of the various lines of work undertaken and carried on by the Division of Entomology at Ottawa is given, and the general public will no doubt be surprised at the many problems which come within the scope of the entomologists who are called upon to deal with insects in their relations to all the varied activities of man; insects affecting farm crops, fruit growing, forest and shade trees; insects attacking man's possessions, and infesting houses, attacking the health of man. All insects, however, are not injurious, and the work of the entomologist includes bees and bee-keeping, and the study of parasitic and other enemies which may be of assistance in obtaining control of insect pests.

Doctors Able to Prevent Former Fearful Peckmarks.

Smallpox is no longer feared by civilized mankind. This is partly due, no doubt, to the immunization of the races through vaccination, and partly to the better methods of sanitation and preventive treatment generally. In the first year of our occupation of the Phillipines, where smallpox was then an epidemic or constant disease, there were 240 deaths. A system of rigid vaccination was adopted, and in the last five years there have been only five cases and not a single death. The army records in Porto Ricc tell the same story, and seem to prove beyond question the efficacy of vaccination. Dr. S. O. Rockhill, of Cincinnatti, reports that he has had much success in preventing the pock marking of the face in smallpox cases by painting the pustules with a lotion of nine parts glycerine and one part iodine. By this treatment also the patients get over the attack in from eight to fifteen days. Others prevent the pitting by keeping the patients in a room where no light whatever but red light enters.

If You Like a Little Quiet Fun

Ask some pompous person if Grape-Nuts Food helps build the brain.

Chances are you get a withering sneer and a hiss of denunciation.

Then sweetly play with the learned toad.

Ask him to tell you the analysis of brain material and the analysis c

"Don't know? Why, I supposed you based your opinions on exact knowledge instead of pushing out a conclusion like you would a sneeze."

"Well, now your tire is punctured, let's sit down like good friends and repair it."

The bulky materials of brain are water and albumin, but these things cannot blend without a little worker known as Phosphate of Potash, defined as a "mineral salt."

One authority, Geohegan, shows in his analysis of brain, 5.33 per cent. total of mineral salts, over one-half being Phosphoric Acid and Potash combined, (Phosphate of Potash) 2.91 per cent.

Beaunis, another authority, shows Phosphoric Acid and Potash (Phosphate of Potash) more than one-half the total mineral salts, being 73.44 per cent. in a total of 101.07.

Analysis of Grape-Nuts shows Potassium and Phosphorus (which join and make Phosphate of Potash) is considerable more than one-half of the mineral salts in the food.

Dr. Geo. W. Carey, an authority on the constituent elements of the body, says; "The gray matter of the brain is controlled entirely by the inorganic cell-salt, Potassium Phosphate (Phosphate of Potash), This salt unites with albumin and by the addition of oxygen creates nerve fluid or the gray matter of the brain. Of course, there is a trace of other salts and other organic matter in nerve fluid, but Potassium Phosphate is the chief factor, and has the power within itself to attract, by its own law of affinity, all things needed to manufacture the elixir of life."

Further on he says: "The beginning and end of the matter is to supply the lacking principle, and in molecular form, exactly as nature furnishes it in vegetables, fruits and grain. To supply deficiencies—this is the only law of cure."

Brain is made of Phosphate of Potash as the principal Mineral Salt, added to albumin and water.

Grape-Nuts contains that element as more than one-half of Every day's use of brain wears away a little.

Suppose your kind of food does not contain Phosphate of Potash.

How are you going to rebuild today the worn-out parts of yesterday?

And if you don't, why shouldn't nervous prostration and brain-fag result.

Remember, Mind does not work well on a brain that is even partly broken down from lack of nourishment

It is true that other food besides Grape-Nuts contains varying quantities of Brain food.

Plain wheat and barley do. But in Grape-Nuts there is a certainty. And if the elements demanded by Nature, are eaten, the life forces have the needed material

A healthy brain is important, if one would "do things" in this world. A man who sneers at "Mind" sneers at the best and least understood part of himself. That part which Mind asks for a healthy brain upon which to act, and Nature has defined a way to make a healthy brain and renew it day by day as it is used up from work of the previous day.

Nature's way to rebuild is by the use of food which supplies the things required.

AFRICA'S GREAT DESERT.

AFRICA'S GREAT DESERT.

Sahara is Not All Barren and Has Two Distinct Populations.

The Sahara, that vast expanse of country lying to the south of Algeria, is commonly called "the desert" by Europeans. The name Sahara in nowise, however, means "desert." It is simply the Arab appellation of this extensive tract, mainly composed of great plains, which are even well populated in certain districts. It is quite a mistake to imagine that all is barren and sterile, for there are to be found large date palm plantations as well as numerous focks of sheep and great numbers of camels which man must tend and care for.

The Sahara contains two distinct populations—the one sedentary, the other nomad. The former live in the towns and villages, cultivating the soil and tending the date paims. The latter are shepherds, roaming from place to place in search of pasture for their cattle. How few are there in the home land who have any idea of the Sahara or of the Arab tribes who live there! Travelers to these regions are comparatively rare, but all are amply repaid for a visit.

Life among the moving tents of the nomads is deeply interesting in its primitive simplicity. The country itself has a grandeur and beauty which is quite unique. Its rolling dunes, painted with orange and crimson and gold against violet and purple shadows at survise and aunset; its green onses, its wild sandstorms, its lovely mirages, once seen are never to be forgotten. While the solemn silence strikes the soul with awe, one almost realizes why the Araba call all this "the garden of Allah."—Christian Heraid.

The cost of life insurance depends on efficiency of manager est earnings and the mortality experienced.

For many years past THE MUTUAL LIFE OF CANADA

RIVERS IN THE AIR

Curlous Play of the Winds In the Yosemite Valley.

EBB AND FLOW WITH THE SUN

These Air Currents or Air Falls Are Se Regular That They May Almost Be Timed-Mirror Lake and the Spray Combs at Bridal Vell Falls.

Did you know there are air falls in the atmosphere just as real and apparent as are the waterfalls you have so often viewed with admiration and delight because of their natural beauty? In the famed Yosemite valley the most interesting feature is, to the scientist perhaps, its winds.

The winds there are seldom more than light zephyrs, moody and capricious to the ordinary tourist, but when rightly understood one of the wonders of the valley. These interesting facts are told by Professor F. E. Matthes of the United States geological survey in the Sierra Club Bulletin.

In no other place in the entire world perhaps are the air currents more systematic and regular than in the Yosemite valley, he says. In the first place, the sun naturally heats the ground more rapidly than it does the air. Thus every hillside basking in the sun becomes a heat radiator and gradually warms the air above it, so that the air does not rise vertically because the air directly over it is still cool and is pressing downward. Therefore up the sides of the warm slope the heated air makes its way. That is why the tourist making his way up the mountain slope with the sun on his back finds his own dust traveling upward with him in a choking cloud.

But on coming down the same trail, when the face of the slope is in the shadow, the dust ever descends with the traveler in the same irritating cloud. When the face of the mountain is in the shade the air is cooling from the face of the slope is in the shadow, the dust ever descends with the face of the slope is not the face of the mountain is in the shade the air is cooling from the face of the mountain the earth begins to lose its heat by radiation and in a very short time is really cooler than the air. The layer of air next the face of the mountain the earth begins to lose its heat by radiation and in a very short time is real and a Lucky Escape.

Lord Acton for many years kept a dow.

The straugest of all coincidences noted by Lord Acton concerned Sir Edmund Berry Godfrey, who was murdered at the bottom of what is now Primrose hill, but was then known as Greenberry hill, in London.

Three men were hanged for the murder. Their names, respectively, were Green, Berry and Hill.

Some years ago a well known business man, who was accustomed to make weekly trips between an eastern city and Chicago, had the uncomfortable experience of having a wheel break immediately under his seat while the train was going at full speed. It was only by the most fortunate of leaps that he was able to escape losing his life. Naturally this experience made a very deep impression upon him.

It was almost a year later that he took the same train and by a strange chance was assigned the same chair. During a chat with a friend whom he had just met he glanced out or the window and recognized the landscape and the very spot of his narrow escape. He told the friend the story of the broken wheel, Just as he reached the climax of his recital, saying, "The cold shivers go down my back at the meter thought of it—there it is again," incredible as it may seem, the identical accident happened on the same train, almost between the same two fields adjoining the track, and the victim of this oddest of coincidences harely escaped the same way as before.

Such weird coincidences harely escaped the same way as before.

Such weird coincidence harely escaped the same way as before, such weird coincidences are always difficult of credence, but no less an authority than Darwin, the naturalist, mentions one of the same kind, though different in degree. One of a party whereof Darwin was a member was speaking of the earthquake of Taicabunno, in northern Chile, on which occasion the faither had lost all his property and the narrator himself had barely escaped with his life. Then, writes Darwin, there cusued a curious coincidence. A German, one of the party, got up, saying that he would never sit in a room in those countries with the door s Abandoned Mines.

Old worked out mines are often highly dangerous. When they are almost forgotten the ground above them will sometimes cave in with disastrous results. It is not an uncommon thing in an old mining district to see a house or even part of a town that has been wrecked by dropping into an unsuspected and long abundoned tunnel heneath. The ordinary preventive method used in American mines is more or less extensive timbering. A method used in European and Australian mining districts is the filling of abandoned workings with sand. This is a somewhat expensive method to start with, but once done no further thought need be given to it, as the abandoned mine has practically become once more a part of the solid crust of the earth.

Scalping the Dead.

Scalping the Dead.

Just when the untilation of the dead by tearing the skin from the head began will never be known, for the origin is lost in the midst of ages, the record extending back beyond even the mythical period of man's existence. In the book of Maccabees it is recorded that it the termination of one of the battless of which that bloody history is so full the victorious soldiers fore the skin from the heads of their vanquished foes. This would be evidence that the custom of scalp taking was one of the ladulgences even of those people of whom we have record in the Bible.

"Why do you all your story 'The Thieves' Romance?"
"Because it is all about stealing."
"How?"
"Well, the story of the romance goes this way: 'She stole a look; then he stole a kiss. Next they had stolen meetings, they stole a march on their friends, and both stole away."
"I suppose the next thing they will be stealing back."

Play Was Over.

Chi-Namel Demonstration

At L. & R. W. Meiklejohn's Hardware Store On May 20th and 21st, 1912

We have the sales agency for the line of all-purpose varnish, which is so far ahead of any varnish that has ever been sold in this community that we particularly desire an early opportunity to show its good points to some member of every household in our business district.

What we want you to know about this wonderful varnish is something that cannot be told; but we can show you in a very few minutes that you get more for your money every time by using Chi-Namel Varnish for floors, woodwork, furniture, or anything about the house on which varnish is used.

This varnish is furnished in the natural color and also in a full variety of colors. It can be hammered and boiled and otherwise abused without showing any signs of abuse. Any amateur can apply it to large surfaces and get just as smooth a finish as a professional finisher—no laps, no brush marks, no blotches to make a patchy appearance.

You will thank us for this invitation after you have come to know all about it.

Other features we want to show you are the Chi-Namel Ready-to Use Graining Process, by which you can cover all blemishes in your old floors and make them any color you wish, and also produce the grain of oak or other woods.

Old carpets can be 'made into rugs and a new hardwood border will take the place of the ugly flooring at a cost of but 2c. per square foot. We will gladly explain all these features at our store if you give us the

REICHSTAG ELECTIONS.

REICHSTAG ELECTIONS.

The Method of "Running For Congress" in Germany.

For election to the reichstag there is equal universal suffrage with secret builot for all made citizens twenty-five years of age, there being certain excluded classes, criminals, paupers, etc., while persons in actual military service have their voting rights suspended. Nominations are not made by regular conventions, as with us. Any man may put his name before the people, but in practice, of course, committees in each election district make the nominations for the parties, and the methods of securing the nominations, by personal solicitation, by trades among the aspirants, by the influence of dominating personalities, are much the same as with us, for the Germans, too, have their "bosses," and they are even now using the English word to express the fact.

One hears little or nothing of bribery in German elections, but the influence of the government, amounting practically to coercion of officials and the direction of their political activity by their superiors, is generally recognized as going far beyond the "pernicious political activity" that has been so emphatically condemned and so nearly suppressed in the United Statea.—

CHANGED THE PLAY.

CHANGED THE PLAY.

Peter the Great Turned the Comedy Into a Tragady.

1º is related that Peter the Great that mighty car of Russia, strolling and the composition through the camp, came upon a party of noncommissioned officers and grenadlers enacting a comedy, which he paused to witness.

All at once his brow became clouded. In the play a soldler in the uniform of his guard committs at a certain moment a robbery. Nevertheless the emperor allowed the play to proceed. The court martial is summoned on the stage and the thief is sentenced to death. The spectators, composed of officers and men, showed the most lively concern in the performance and laughed at the grotesque contortions of the condemned culprit. The amasteur actor played his part very well. Here come the squad that is to execute him. "Firel" orders the leutent and the little is a part to the condemned culprit. The amasteur dropped down dead, his heart plerced by seven bullets—no make believe, but dead in deed.

Whereupon the emperor dropped his incognito and addressed those assombled in the stage and did not steal why did he boast of it and soil his uniform? It is I who or dered the loaded rifes given to the men. I henceforth forbid my soldlers to ply the trade of mummers."—Argonaut.

"Sometimes," she said, rather wistfully.
"Only sometimes? No, no, always, to the last breath?" cried Frithiof.
"You say that because things are as you like; because you are happy," said Blanche.
"It is true, I am very happy," he replied. "Who would not be happy walking with you?"
Something in his manner frightended her a little. She went on breathlessly and incoherently.
"You wouldn't say that life is a very good thing it you were like our poor people in East London, for instance."
"Indeed, no," he said, gravely.

Militia Expense Should Be Reduced

Should Be Reduced

There was a rumor that the Minister of Militia was about to make Belleville a great military centre. The Belleville Ontario does not approve of this idea, and says a big military establishment is likely to get any nation not otrouble. It closes an editorial on the subject with the following:

"Let us remember too that military me depends upon taxation, and this issually falls, in any nation, upon the me who work.

"Hon. Sam Hughes apparently defrest to have our public school childen to go each year into training amps, filled as he is with the idea hat military training is the greatest ducational force in the world. It is ratifying to see with how little enusiasm Colonel Sam's proposals have cen received.

Mr. C. U. Clancy, of Wellman's Corners, lost a valuable horse on Monday last. He drove it to Stirling on that day, and on arrival here he noticed there was something wrong with it, and although the veterinary was called, it was found there could be nothing done, and the animal died soon after.

The firecracker nuisance has already seen in evidence on the streets of Stining, and has caused horses to become annanageable and ladies to be frightned. The Council should take prompt action to stop the letting off of firecrackers of any kind by appointing constables to enforce the provisions of the by-law, by which all parties guilty of such practices are liable to a fine of twenty dollars.

Resolution of Condolence

The following resolution was unanimously passed at the last official meeting of the Quarterly Board of Rawdon circuit held in the Bethel Methodist Church on May 4th 1912.

Moved by Bro. James Scott, and seconded by Bro. Alex. Morton, that whereas it has pleased Almighty God in His infinite wisdom to remove from our midst Bro. Geo. A. Johnson, our esteemed Recording Steward, whose death occurred on the 27th of March, 1912, and

Whereas, by his sudden departure a vacancy has been created in this Quarterly Board which it will be difficult to fill, and, while our hearts are sad because of the great loss we have sustained in the death of our brother, yet we are deeply grateful to God for the years in which he was spared to this circuit, and for the faithful, practical christian character of the life he lived among us. Therefore be it Resolved, that we deeply deplore the sad occurrence and express our sincere sorrow, which we extend to his wife and family in their sore be-reaveneut, and pray that our Heavenly Father may comfort them in their sorrow, and that even so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by Him who doeth all things well, and Resolved that a copy of this resolution be inserted with the minutes of this Quarterly Board, a copy forwarded to the bereaved family, and a copy handed the News-Argus for publication.

QUEEN WAS INDEPENDENT

ANECDOTES ILLUSTRATING VICTORIA'S CHARACTER.

Anything That Lowered Her Dignity.

Anything That Lowered Her Dignity.

Gracious though the late Queen Victoria could be at times, she would brook no interference with her personal wishes. Furthermore, she was quite convinced in her early days of the infallibility of kings and queens, and strongly resented anything which, in her opinion, would lower her Royal dignity. This is made plain by Mrs. Jerrold in her stories of the court in the 'forties, contained in her book, 'The Early Court of Queen Victoria.'

Queen Victoria's childhood was exceedingly dreary, and it was, perhaps, scarcely surprising, when she became Queen of England, that she used her power and great position in very little ways. Her first request to her mother on her accession was that she should be 'left alone for two hours,' a privilege she had never enjoyed, while, when the Duchess of Kent begged her august daughter not to overtire her self-by the excitement of attending in person to

SIR EDWARD CLOUSTON.

Sir Edward was informed that there was to be a serious delay he resolved to telegraph Sir Thomas. A brakeman started out to make his way three miles to the telegraph office, and Sir Thomas gave him a personal message to the C.P.R. president. He also insisted that the brakeman wait for a reply. His message was as follows:

"Sir Thomas Shaughnessy," "President O.P.R.:

"Am tied up in a snowstorm in oe fyour trains. Three miles from nowhere. What would you advise?

On account of the snowstorm, there were delays in transmitting the message, and the reply, which reached the snow-bound knight three hours afterwards. It was clear and to the point:

This Rule of Etiquette Laid Down in 1673.

Seventeenth century etiquette prescribed that hats should be worn at table. "The Rules of Civility, or Certain Ways of Deportment, published 1673, gives some directions on this point. Under the supposition that "a person of quality detains you to dine with him," it is laid down that "when the person invited is seated he must keep himself uncovered till the rest sit down, and the person of quality has put on his hat. If the person of hoor drinks a health to you, you must likewise be uncovered. If he speaks to you, you must likewise be uncovered till you have answered him. If one rises from the table before the rest, he must pull off his hat."

A trace of this etiquette lingers in the House of Commons, where a member is always allowed to wear, she wrote: "I am distressed to tell you what I fear you don't Chronicle."

FOOD AND INTELLECT.

It used to be thought that fasting purified the spirit and made the intellect clear. The mind with wings unclogged by the gross appetites of the body was supposed to be more free and nimble. The British Medical Journal does not believe that the intellect is strengthened by fasting, though undoubtedly it may be clouded by over-eating. On the other hand, fasting has often evil effects on the temper, which undo whatever spiritual good it may do in other ways; and as regards the intellect, it is a truism that the brain must be fed like any other part of the body. The quantity of the part of the body are acqualtily of the part of the body. The quantity of the part of the body are quantity of the part of the body. FIRST PRINTER'S DEVIL

He Was a Young Negro Slave Empleyed by Aldus Manutius.

Aldus Manutius, who in 1488 set up his office in Venice, has long been famous as the first of the publishers of the famous Aldine classics, which today are so highly prized by book collectors. He was the author of a Latin grammar, a Greek dictionary and a treatise on the metrical methods of the poet Horace and originated the form of type known by us as Italic and by German printers as "cursive" type.

He is also said to be responsible for the name of "printer's devil," almost worldwide in its application to the youngest boy in the office. A young negro slave employed in his office who was so very black and dirty that his natural ugliness had become an almost fendish expression became feared and known all over Venice as "the little black devil," and Manutius at hast realized that the boy and himself had dangerously awakened the superstitious fears and dislike of the more ignorant Venetians. He accordingly formally exhibited him during a whole day on the public streets and had the criers make this proclamation throughout the city:

"I, Aldus Manutius, printer to the holy church and the day on the public streets and had the criers make this proclamation throughout the city:

make this proclaumation.

"I, Aldus Manutius, printer to the holy church and the doge, have this day made public exposure of the printer's devil. All who think he is not flesh and blood may come and prick him."—Charles Winslow Hall in National Magazine.

Don't Call It Slang.

A Cleveland man who has lived for a number of years recently got it into his head that he might die one of these days and that it would be well if he wrote his autobiography ere that sad event occurred, as one might say. So he sat down and wrote many pages and took those pages to a local publisher. After the manuscript had been in the latter's bands for some time the author called him up.

"This is Bjones," he explained genfally.

Permanently Cured Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Neuralgia is not a disease it is enly a symptom, but a very painful one. It is the surest sign that your blood is weak, watory and impure, and that your nerves are literally starving. Bad blood is the one cause—good, rich, red blood the only cure. There you have the real reason why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure neuralgia. They are the only medicine that contains in correct proportions the elements needed to make rich, red blood. This new blood reaches the root of the trouble, soothes the jangled nerves, drives away the nagging, stabbing pain and braces up your health in other ways. Among the sufferers from neuralgia, cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, is Mrs. Chas. Brown, Durham, Ont., who says: "For months I suffered intensely from neuralgia. The pain in my head and face at times was so great as to be almost unbearable. I tried from neuralgia. The pain in my head and face at times was so great as to be almost unbearable. I tried from neuralgia, cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I began their use. Soon I found the pains becoming less and after taking the pills for some weeks the trouble entirely disappeared and has not since bothered me."

If you are suffering from any blood or nerve trouble begin to cure yourself to-day with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brock ville, Ont.

cure from a severe attack of Kidney Disease which kept him in a state of pain and suspence for two months and defied the efforts of two dectors who were treating him.

"My trouble started with a cold,"
Mr. Moulaison says. "My muscles would cramp and I had backache

ANCIENT SURGICAL FORMS.

Hippocrates Wrote Treatises on Fractures and Wounds.

Hippocrates Wrote Treatises on Fractures and Wounds.

There is no doubt that some rough form of surgery must have existed from very ancient times, but it is strange to find that so complex and delicate an operation as trepanning is one of the oldest. So far as actual records go, Hippocrates gives us the earliest account. He wrote treatises on fractures, dislocations, and wounds of the head, in which he described the method of procedure to be followed in the case of a fractured skull. His direction was to cut away a piece of bone so that the pressure on the brain might be removed. There are also records about this time and later of a file being used for this purpose, which at a time when anaesthetics were undreamed of must have been, to say the least, painful.

According to Dr. T. Rice Holmes, the operation of removing pieces of bone was performed long before historic times. The effects on the skull are easily seen after death, and are visible as long as the bones are preserved. From inspection of certain skulls of the later Stone Age in Ancient Britain Dr. Holmes has come to the conclusion, as he announced in a lecture at the Royal Institute, that some of these had undergone the operation, which must have been performed with a stone implement.

Very many persons die annually from cholera and kindred summer complaints, who might have been used. If attacked do not delay in getting a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, the medicine that never fails to effect a cure. Those who have used it say it acts promptly, and thoroughly subdues the pain and disease.

IN COMMON TROUBLE.

"I always make it a practice to let to-morrow take care of itself." "That's easy enough, but it's forgetting yesterday that causes trouble for so many of us."

"Begin every day well," said the philosopher.
"Sure!" said the grouch. "But what are you going to do if you've got chronic indigestion?"

The average weekly wages of all workpeople engaged in iron and steel manufacture in the United Kingdom is $9.

Did you ever try to figure out why, short horizontal line should signiy aubtraction or minus, a plus addition and so on? The sign of addition is derived from the initial let or of the word "plus." In making he capital letter it was made more med more carclessly until the control the "p" was placed near the control hence the plus sign.

word was are-with a horizontal line above to in-dicate the contraction, which was a printer's freak that may be found in any book bearing a date earlier than the beginning of the eight teenth century. After the lapse of a long period of time the letter were omitted altogether, leaving only the short line so well known to all.

were connect steepener, tearning, only the short line so well known to all.

The multiplication sign was obtained by changing the plue sign into a character resembling the letter "x." This was done simply because multiplication is but a shorter form of addition.

Division was formerly indicated by placing the dividend above a horizontal line and the divisor below. In order to save space in printing the dividend was placed to the left and the divisor to the right, with a simple dot in place of each. The sign of equality is said to have first been used in the year 1557 by a sharp mathematician, who adopted it as a substitute for the words "equal to."

Zam-Buk Will End It.

For skin rashes, eruptions, eczema, etc., either in adults or children, there is nething known to science which equals Zam-Buk in the quickness and certainty of its curative power. Mr. Raymond Webber, of Allanburg, Ont., writes: "I have tried Zam-Buk for many ailments, and every time have found it successful. Some time ago I had a bad rash all over my body. I tried home-made salves, herb salves, and various home-made preparations, and these proved of no use, but when I tried Zam-Buk I was cured in a quarter of the time that I had been experimenting in vain with other preparations.

"My boy had boils, and once again Zam-Buk brought about a complete cure. We have also used it as a household balm and it always gives us full satisfaction."

Zam-Buk owes its unique healing power to certain herbal extracts it contains. Unlike most ointments it contains no poisonous coloring matter, no animal fat, but is purely herbal. For eczema, piles, blood poison, absecsses, ulcers, cuts, burns, and all skin injuries and diseases it is without equal. 50c. box all druggists and stores. Use also Zam-Buk Soan, 25c. tablet.

In the spring of 1831, the ship was launched with much ceremony. The dimensions were: Length, 176 feet; hold, 17 feet, nine inches; breadth outside, 44 feet; breadth between paddle-boxes, 23 feet. The ship was fitted with three masts, schooner rigged; and the builders' measurement was 1,370 tons, with accommodation for sixty passengers.

The launching having been successfully carried out, the vessel was towed to Montreal, where her machinery was put in and she was fitted out for sea. Her first voyage was from Montreal to Halitax, and for a time thereafter the ship traded between Montreal, Quebec and Boston.

Then came the voyage that gave the Royal William a permanent place in history — the voyage across the Atlantic. On August 5, 1833, the ship left Quebec for London, calling at Pictou, N. S., for coal, and to have machinery overhuled. She started again from Pictou on August 18 with seven passengers, 254 chaldrons of coal and a light cargo.

Off the banks of Newfoundland the Royal William encountered a severe gals which disabled one of the vessel's engines. However, the voyage was completed, the Royal William reaching London twenty-five days after leaving Pictou.

The subsequent career of the Royal William was out of the commonplace. Ten days after reaching London the Royal William was chartered by the Government of Portugal, and in the following, year it was sold to Spain, and was employed against the forces of Don Carlos, pretender to the Spanish throne.

In a paper read before the Canadian Institute, Toronto, in December, 1892, Sir Sandford Fleming asserted that "to his mind it is incontestably established that the memorable voyage of the Royal William in 1833 must be held to be the first passage across the Atlantic under steam. FAMILY OF FREAKS.

Spanish Peasant Jas Twelve Fingers on Each Hand.

Snain possesses two families at least which have unique records. One was brought to light when a woman called at Bilbao hospital with her son, who has enormous hands and 12 fingers on each. The most curious part of the case is that all her sons possess similar hands. One has 21 fingers on each. The most curious part of the case is that all her sons possess similar hands. One has 21 fingers, another 23, and the other five children 24 fingers each. All are living and enjoying good health. Many doctors are studying these cases. At Zarzatano, a town in the same province, a child has just been born, while his father, grandfather, grandfather, and his great-great-grandfather are still living. His name is Urritioechea, and the family are Basque farm laborers. The great-grandfather have acted as god-fathers to the latest arrival. The united family constitutes nearly a whole village.

Is it Dead?

The question was asked the writer recently what had become of the Laymen's Missionary services of Stirling? Who is responsible? Have we lost faith in ourselves and also in the Master, who has promised His presence where two or three are gathered together in His name. We do not know the good results that some day may shine from our small though united gatherings.

Obituary

Died in Rawdon, April 14th, Wm. F. Scott, in the 60th year of his age, Bro. Scott, was the eddest son of the late Hugh Scott, and was born on the lott, day of November 1852.

In 1877 he was united in marriage to Lydia E. Mack, who for 31 years was his faithful companion, but who now remains to mourn the loss of a kind husband. In 1878 he joined the Stirling Baptist Church, and remained a fathful member until the end came. About 4 years ago his health began to fail, and on the 10th of April he was suddenly seized with paralysis, and lingered until the 14th, when he peacefully passed away. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. C. G. Smith, of Belleville, assisted by Rev. J. A. Counell, the text being from Isainh 26th chap., 3rd verse, and John 14th chap., 27th verse. The deceased was a member of L. O. Lz. No. 172, who attended in a body and conducted an impressive service at the grave. That Bro. Scott was a kind friend and neighbor was shown by the large gathering which was present to show their last respects to the departed. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, two sons, Wm. H. and Walter H., both of Rawdon, and also an aged mother, and three sisters. May the God of all consolation comfort the bereaved wife and family, and bring them all into the haven of rest prepared for all that love Him in sincerity

Obituary

REV. R. B. DENIKE
(Campbeliford Heraid)
On Sunday morning about daybreak
Robert Baldwin Denike suddenly succumbed to an attack of heart failure.
Deceased was born at Moira on March 10th, 18th, being a son of the late Isaac Denike, at one time school inspector of the county of Hastings.
He was educated at thel public school and at Albert College, Belleville. In 1894 he married Miss Howard, who survives him.
As a young man he was converted under the ministration of Rev. J. M.
Simpson, now of Toronto, and in 1886
he entered the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in which work he engaged with singular success for seventeen years. During this time he

G. P. G.'s Experience.

Even before the Hon. George P. Graham was known throughout Canada as a great after-dinner speaker, he showed his wit and resourcefulness. When the Hon. George (it was plain "George' then) was married, he found himself in the embarrassing position of being called upon for a speech without being prepared.

He was perplexed, but not dismayed, for his ready wit did not desert him. He said that he could not express himself better on this occasion than he did at the old Methodist experience meeting, when he said: "It is good to be here."—Star Weekly.

Canada knows something about ice, and it seems peculiarly fitting that it should have produced a man who is now the greatest authority on ice that the world possesses. That, I think I can say, is the title that is generally conceded by the greatest scientific authorities to Prof. Barnes.

During the past few years Prof. Barnes has been devoting the best energies of his mind to experiments the express object of which has been to make impossible such a disaster at sea as that which occurred to the Titanic. He now has in his laboratory, as the concrete result of those experiments, an instrument, which he declares, and which his brother-scientists believe, should for all importance of not less than two miles on the windward side of it and seven miles on the lee-ward side.

Prof. Barnes' device is an adapta-tion of the electrical resistance ther-mometer—so sensitive that it will re-cord a variation of one-thousandth of a degree. This thermometer is de-signed to be permanently attached to the ship under the water, and by means of wires leading from it to the chart room to make a continuous re-cord in the chart room of the water temperature. So striking is this re-cord that, whereas on an ordinary thermometer a single degree is usually represented by only one-eighth of an inch, the new thermometer represents

"I should not be surprised this year to see immigration into Canada exceed 400,000," said a C.P.R. passenger agent who has just returned from the west.

"The C.P.R. returns, as well as those of other lines, show that the arrivals of newcomers from the United States for the past four months is between 75 and 80 per cent. in excess of the corresponding period of last year. There is also a big movement from the British Isles.

High Living in Germany.

The Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin publishes an urgent appeal to German society leaders to return to "simple eating." It says that the luxury era in Germany has caused an extravagance in dining which threatens financial impoverishment and digestive ruin. Carlsbad, Marienbad, Kissingen and other spas which cater to the needs of "penitent gluttons" are, says the journal, visited by numbers, annually increasing, who go there in spring and summer to make amends for overesting and overdrinking in winter. "Is would be a genuine public service on the part of leading society personages if they would begin by practical example to wage war on the sensual inxuriousness of modern entertaining, as far as the cullinary end of it is concerned. Only by a return to simple and sensible dinners can we avert genuine economic and physical perils."

Strests of New York.

"Anything in the line of luck can happen in New York city," observed a commercial traveler recently, "and some of the funniest stunts are accidentally pulled off. I saw something the other day quicker done than told. An automobile was going down Broadway. A woman dropped a magazine or book from it. A man picked it upama man worse for poverty. As the chauffeur turned the vehicle this man threw the magazine or book into it, and the woman tossed a coin at him. Another man, running down Broadway, caught the coin and continued running. The man who had lost his tip started to laugh, and soon Broadway was laughing with him, although not knowing what it was laughing at."

WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets she would not be without them. They are the only medicine for little ones guaranteed by a Government analyst to be free from those opiates and other harmful drugs found in so-called "soothing" mixtures. Concerning them Mrs. J. C. Wood, Underwood, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the last four years and would not be without them, as I have found them beneficial every time I have given them to my little ones." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WORLD'S BIGGEST STONES.

Freet Long.

Probably the largest stones ever used in any building are seen in the western wall of the great temple of Baalbek, in Syria, and the problem is still unsolved as to the methods used in conveying them from the quarries and of placing them in position. The quarries from which these blocks were undoubtedly cut can be seen about half a mile to the south-west of the temple. The three stones lie horizontally, and form part of the outer wall of the building. They are not on the lowest port of the masonry, but are twenty-three feet above the first row of stones. Each stone is over sixty feet long, thirteen feet high, and ten feet thick. The most wonderful block of all still lies in the quarries, for something must have occurred to stop the work of separating it completely from the rock, and the great stone has lain there for centuries awaiting completion. This stone is seventy feet long, fourteen feet high, and thirteen feet high, and there were such that the fourth have been beautifully chiselled, and are smooth and even.

Central Kingsclear, York Co., N. B., May 20 (Special).—'The doctor said I would have to undergo an operation.'' So said Mrs. J. V. Goodine, of this place. But she smiled as she made the remark, for all need of the dreaded operation had vanished. Mrs. Goodine used Dodd's Kidney Pills and is a well woman. Given in brief and in her own words, Mrs. Goodine's experience is as follows:

"I was very miserable with Kidney Disease and unable to do my own work. The doctor said I would have to undergo an operation. After using three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I was all better and able to do my work. This statement is true, as you can easily prove by enquiring among my neighbors."
